N120 Lecture Hall

Dr. Shear is a psychiatrist and developed Prolonged Grief Treatment, an adaptation-focused grief intervention proven effective in 3 NIMH randomized clinical trials. In her illustrious career, she has more than 330 peer reviewed publications. Importantly, she has mentored a generation of grief researchers, utilizing models that incorporate psychology and neuroscience.

The Neurobiology of Grief International Network (NOGIN) is proud to offer Dr. Shear a Lifetime Achievement Award, followed by an interview and moderated Q&A by Dr. Zoe Donaldson (UC Boulder).
